Number of Certified Organic Producers by County

Welcome to Vermont's Organic Farm & Food Guide!

This guide is your key to finding Vermont's certified organic, locally grown bounty. We are fortunate, in Vermont, to be able to eat local and organic food—you don't have to choose! Inside, you will find all of the certified organic producers in your community. In addition we have all the farmers markets, farm stands, and Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) farms closest to your home—you can find everything from maple syrup to raspberries, fresh peas to chicken.

The organic seal ensures that your food is grown by farmers who are working to build the health of their soil, crops and animals. Organic producers follow strict production practices including growing crops without the use of synthetic pesticides and fertilizers, and raising livestock that are raised humanely and have access to the outdoors. Did you also know that certified organic foods are always GMO-free?

Organic farms and processors continue to flourish in Vermont, so there are many farms and businesses to explore—in 2019, there were 775 certified organic farms and processors producing organic food on 150,654 acres in Vermont, and over 25% of the dairy farms in Vermont are certified organic! Those certified organic producers are participating in local and regional markets, maintaining working landscapes, and contributing to the success of other local businesses.

You can find certified organic products at farm stands, stores, restaurants, through mail order, or you can 'pick your own' at the farm—there are so many opportunities to support Vermont's producers. Just look for the VOF logo or the USDA organic seal.

More information is available on our website, www.nofavt.org. So, take some time to wind your way around Vermont and engage in gustatory pleasure—each part of Vermont celebrates different tastes, and tells a different food story.

Enjoy!

Vermont Organic Farmers, LLC

The USDA accredited certification agency owned by NOFA-VT

Vermont Organic Farmers (VOF) was created in 1985 to help producers and concerned consumers define what it meant to farm organically. These standards for organic production in Vermont were created by the farmers who were dedicated to practices that used a holistic approach to soil fertility, pest control, and plant and animal health.

In 2002 the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) implemented the National Organic Program (NOP), which created national standards for organic food. VOF has certified farmers and processors to the NOP standards since 2002.

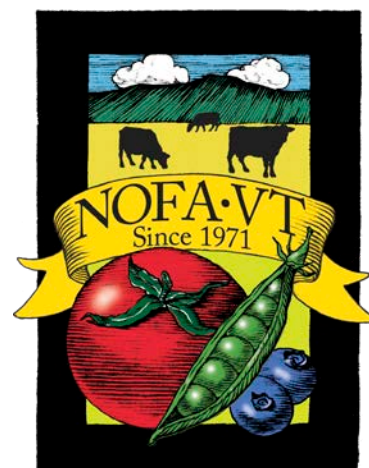

Our purpose is to provide a highly credible program for independent third-party verification of organic food production, and to assist Vermont farmers and processors of all types to achieve the highest possible organic standards.

To view the complete standards for crop, livestock, maple, and food processing, please visit our website: www.nofavt.org/vof.

Look for the VOF logo the next time you are shopping to support local organic producers!

NOFA-VT

The Northeast Organic Farming Association of Vermont (NOFA-VT) promotes organic practices to build an economically viable, ecologically sound, and socially just Vermont agricultural system that benefits all living things.

What we do, why we do it.

PEOPLE

economically viable

Ensuring farm viability and the working landscape

We work with farmers through technical assistance, beginning farmer coaching, marketing support, cohort based learning, and one on one relationships to ensure the thriving of our Vermont farms.

Connecting people and building a movement

We build vibrant agricultural communities through educational opportunities and by bringing people together with a spirit of joy wherever we go, and making friends one mobile pizza oven party at a time. We mobilize our community to raise our voices for sensible policies that support a resilient food system through our advocacy and policy leadership!

Building resilience through strengthened producer-eater relationships

We support direct relationships between farmers and eaters, eaters learn about farming practices used and make decisions that support farmers and practices they value.

LAND

ecologically sound

Building soil and cleaning water

Holistic land stewardship practiced by organic farmers builds soil, slows water falling on the landscape, and prevents harmful runoff, improving downstream water quality and overall ecosystem health.

Supporting biodiverse ecosystems

Biodiversity sustains us! We host workshops and classes for farmers, homesteaders and gardeners to learn to enhance life on their land.

Investing in a climate resilient landscape and agriculture

Organic farming practices heal land, both fighting climate change by sequestering carbon into the soil, and making our landscape more resilient in the face of extreme weather.

JUSTICE

socially just

Ensuring food access for all Vermonters

We subsidize CSA shares and amplify EBT benefits at farmers markets and farm stands so that all Vermonters, regardless of economic status, have access to healthy organic produce. These programs help farmers and make good food available to all!

Nourishing the next generation

Through our Farm to School and Farm to Institution work, we build demand for local and organic foods to strengthen our agricultural economy, nourish all Vermonters, and support the expansion of values-based supply chains.

Improving health

VOF certifies farms to the highest organic standards, ensuring that no pesticides, GMOs, or synthetic chemicals contaminate our collective food, water, or land.

5 GOOD REASONS TO BECOME Certified Organic

Being certified organic is the fullest way to demonstrate the best practices and careful stewardship you have put into your product. Farmers cite many reasons to be certified organic, among them clear economic, social, environmental and family wellbeing benefits.

- 1 Seal of Quality The certified organic seal guarantees certain safeguards to your customer, verified by a third party, including no GMOs. The regulations also require annual compliance inspections, have a strict list of approved materials, require documentation of organic practices, and provide guidelines for protecting the soil ecology and water quality. For consumers concerned about this level of traceability in their food, certified organic provides that important assurance.
- 2 Access to Markets Many buyers seek out and promote organic products because of the increasing demand for organic foods. Whatever your marketing goals, there are many opportunities when you sell as certified organic.
- 3 Premium Price in Marketplace Food labeling can be confusing and misleading, which is why certified organic is an important choice for consumers. Consumers are willing to pay a premium for food that carries the USDA and VOF organic seal. Acre for acre, growing produce organically has been shown to be more profitable than growing conventionally, and organic dairy, maple and processed product prices are higher and more stable.
- 4 Environmental Stewardship As every organic farmer knows, organic production is more than just the avoidance of synthetic fertilizers, herbicides and pesticides. It is a whole system of soil management, protection of natural resources and enhancement of biodiversity. Organic practices have the power to increase productivity of the land over time, building fertility and biodiversity for the next generation.
- 5 A Growing Movement Join the growing number of people who address erosion, pollution and soil health through holistic practices of soil and crop management. Through this choice you will join a supportive network of innovators who continue to advance organic methods and grow the success of the movement through their shared purpose.

What About Other Labels?

Certified Organic is the only food label with a clear legal definition, a process for public input, and mandatory third-party inspections. The proliferation of various claims on food packages today can be dizzying. So, what exactly do these other labels mean?

PENNI RAND PHOTOGRAPHY

Non-GMO The “Non-GMO Project” label verifies that a product doesn’t contain genetically modified (GMO) ingredients (or, technically, not more than 0.9% GMOs). However, a non-GMO label does not itself indicate that a product was produced organically or without the use of substances or practices prohibited in organic such as irradiation, toxic pesticides, or synthetic fertilizers.

Natural When shopping for food, do some research before buying “natural” products—the label isn’t verified and each company can use its own definition. “Natural” foods can be made with artificial and genetically engineered ingredients. Produce can be grown with pesticides and meat can be raised with antibiotics and synthetic animal feed.

Free Range Free range is a claim that implies a meat or poultry product comes from an animal that was raised in the open air. However, the only requirement is that an animal can access the outdoors- which doesn’t mean it actually does. The USDA regulates this label for poultry only; there are no legal standards for “free range” egg production, and it doesn’t limit the use of antibiotics, hormones, or pesticides.

Cage-Free Cage-free is often confused with free range. While hens laying eggs labeled as cage-free are uncaged inside barns, they may or may not have any access to the outdoors. There are no consistent standards or mandatory third-party auditing for this label and it doesn’t limit the use of antibiotics, hormones, or pesticides.

Grass-Fed (general claim) The USDA has a good definition for grass-fed that requires 100% grass-based feed over an animal’s lifetime. However, the USDA stated in 2007 that it would not limit the use of the “grass-fed” claim to producers who meet their 100% standard. Because there is no verification, the label can’t tell you if the animal was actually raised on pasture, and it doesn’t limit the use of antibiotics, hormones, or pesticides.

Pasture Raised There is currently no legal definition for the term “pasture raised”. While the phrase might evoke bucolic images, and could accurately describe how an animal is raised, the label can actually mean whatever the producer wants it to mean. “Pasture-raised” has no formal definition or regulation, which means there is no enforcement behind it.

Local The state of Vermont defines “local” products as those that originated in Vermont or within 30 miles of the place where they are sold. However, the state does not conduct inspections or actively enforce this definition.

Split Operations Some organic producers produce both organic and non-organic products. Even if a farm is certified organic, they may offer non-organic products for sale as well. When purchasing product look for clear signage that clarifies whether all or some products qualify as certified organic. If you are confused, ask your farmer!

“Regenerative” (general claim) The term regenerative is a newer label claim and is generally understood to describe farming practices that (much like organic farming) promote soil health and reduce the impacts of climate change by rebuilding soil organic matter and restoring soil biodiversity. There is no consistent standard for the term “regenerative” and use of this claim does not necessarily limit use of synthetic fertilizers, herbicides or pesticides.

“Add-ons” to Organic Certification The following labels require that producers must first obtain organic certification and then meet additional standards.

- Certified GrassFed This label requires that livestock producers feed only forage (no grain products) to livestock and requires that 60% (on average) of an animal’s diet comes from pasture during the growing season. Vermont Organic Farmers is offering this certification to our certified livestock producers which means the claim is verified by a third party.

- Real Organic Project The Real Organic Project was created as a reaction to the NOP’s decision to allow hydroponic crops to be labelled as organic and because the USDA withdrew the new animal welfare regulations, which would have required stronger welfare standards for organic livestock specifically requiring all poultry to have meaningful outdoor access. The ROP is certifying farms that grow in soil and are pasture based. This label is verified by a third party.
- Regenerative Organic Certified Regenerative Organic Certification builds upon the near 100-year legacy of the organic movement but involves additional “regenerative” requirements that include pasture-based animal welfare, fairness for farmers and workers, and robust requirements for soil health and land management.

What is Certified Organic?

TEN THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Farmers maximize animal welfare by raising livestock in an environment where stress is minimized and where they are able to exhibit their natural behaviors such as grazing, rooting, and scratching. Animals are given daily access to the outdoors, year round.

GOOD REASONS TO CHOOSE

Certified Organic, Locally Grown

Healthier for You and Your Family

Organic certification standards prohibit toxic persistent herbicides and pesticides, antibiotics, artificial hormones, and genetically modified organisms. Minimizing your exposure to these toxins can reduce your risk of cancer and other health problems. In addition, organic foods have been shown to have higher levels of beneficial nutrients such as antioxidants and Omega-3s.*

What is Certified Organic?

#3

For maple syrup production, sap is collected using practices that ensure the long-term sustainable management of the sugarbush and promote forest ecosystem health. Maple syrup is tested for lead levels, and synthetic defoamers may not be used when boiling.

What is Certified Organic?

#4

Prohibited pesticides, herbicides, and synthetic fertilizers cannot be used in crop production. Furthermore, producers must maintain buffers that prevent contamination drift from prohibited substances and neighboring GMO crops.

How to Support Our Vermont Organic Dairy Farmers

Vermont Organic Farmers (VOF) certifies just under 200 Vermont dairy farms as organic. These farmers ship fluid milk, bottle their own milk, or make various dairy products including award winning cheeses, yogurt and ice cream. The best way to support these farmers is to purchase their products. Farmers who process their own dairy products include:

Butterworks Farm milk, buttermilk, cream, kefir, and yogurt

Does' Leap Farm goat milk, goat cheese, and kefir

Engelbert Farms milk and cheese in New York

Larson Farm & Creamery milk, gelato, butter, skyr, and yogurt

Neighborly Farms cheese

Rogers Farmstead milk, yogurt, egg nog, and cheese

Scholten Family Farm milk and cheese

Stony Pond Farm cheese

Strafford Organic Creamery bottled milk, egg nog, half & half, heavy cream, and ice cream

Thistle Hill Farm milk and cheese

Von Trapp Farmstead milk and cheese

In addition, the following businesses process organic milk from Vermont farms:

Cellars at Jasper Hill cheese

Champlain Valley Creamery, LTD cheese and cream cheese

So how can you support the other organic dairy farmers who sell their milk wholesale? In Vermont, farmers ship their milk to four milk buyers. Please look for the following brands at your local store or co-op:

If your local store does not carry these brands, ask them to. You may find that these name-brand products from family farms share shelf space with store-brand organic milk from as far away as Colorado. By purchasing the products listed above you are ensuring that your dollars support family farmers in the Northeast and Vermont.

Local Recipe

Harvest Stuffed Squash Makes 6 servings

Fall brings a cornucopia of squash to farm stands and markets: round, ribbed acorn squash; squat pie pumpkins; and the long, striped delicata—my favorite because of its edible skin and quick cooking time. This season of plenty also means you'll find nice fat leeks at the market, and the woods will be filled with mushrooms. On top of that, it's also apple-picking and wild turkey season! For a vegetarian version, substitute 2½ cups of cooked brown rice and some toasted almonds for the turkey.

3 medium whole winter squash
3 tablespoons olive oil
8 ounces farmed or foraged mushrooms
1½ teaspoons kosher salt
Freshly ground black pepper
1 large carrot, peeled and finely diced
1 large leek, white and light green parts only, chopped and washed well
1 pound ground turkey
1 large apple, cored and diced (no need to peel)
1½ tablespoons minced garlic (about 5 cloves)
1 teaspoon smoked paprika, optional
½ cup grated hard cheese (about 2 ounces), such as cave-aged Orb Weaver or Tarentaise from Thistle Hill Farm or Spring Brook Farm

From The Little Local Vermont Cookbook by Melissa Pasanen

In honor of Enid Wonnacott, a champion of Vermont farmers, who drew community together around good food

1 Heat the oven to 400°F.
2 Cut each squash in half across the middle and remove the seeds and stringy bits. Cut a small slice off the stem and the blossom ends of pumpkins or acorn squash so the halves can sit flat on their bottoms.
3 Lightly oil a large rimmed baking sheet with 1 tablespoon of the oil and place the squash on it, flesh side down. Roast until tender and cooked all the way through but not collapsed, 25 to 40 minutes. (This can vary widely depending on variety and size of squash.) Remove from the oven and set aside on the baking sheet, but leave the oven on.
4 Slice or tear the mushrooms into bite-size pieces and toss them in a baking dish with 1 tablespoon of the oil, ½ teaspoon of the salt, and a few grinds of the black pepper. Roast at the same time as the squash until golden and a little crisp at the edges, 15 to 25 minutes depending on the mushroom variety (button mushrooms will take the longest).

5 While the squash and mushrooms are roasting, warm the remaining 1 tablespoon of oil in a large, heavy-bottomed pot over medium heat until it shimmers. Add the carrot and leek and cook, stirring occasionally, until the leek has softened and turns golden, 6 to 8 minutes.

6 Add the turkey, apple, garlic, the remaining 1 teaspoon of salt, and the smoked paprika if using. Mix well and cook, stirring occasionally to break up the meat, until the turkey is cooked through, 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from the heat and stir in the mushrooms. Taste and adjust seasoning as desired.

7 Turn the roasted squash halves onto their bottoms on the rimmed baking sheet. Fill each half generously with the turkey mixture and top each with a sprinkle of the cheese. Return to the oven to melt the cheese and warm through, about 10 minutes. Remove from the oven and serve immediately.

GOOD REASONS TO CHOOSE
Certified Organic,
Locally Grown #3

Better for the Land Organic farmers protect soil, water, and air quality with practices like crop rotation, planting cover crops, and composting. By nourishing the soil, organic farmers sequester carbon, reduce harmful runoff, and help ensure that our farmland will continue to be fertile and productive into the future.

What is Certified Organic?

#7

Meat from animals treated with hormones, antibiotics, or synthetic parasiticides cannot be sold as organic. Farmers use preventive healthcare practices and only approved treatments when necessary.

GOOD REASONS TO CHOOSE
Certified Organic,
Locally Grown #4

Tastes Great Healthy plants and happy animals produce great-tasting food! The short distance from farm to table means that farmers can choose varieties for flavor rather than shelf life, and can harvest at the peak of ripeness.

What is Certified Organic?

TEN THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

#9

Certified organic products are randomly subject to pesticide residue tests. The allowable limit of unintentional pesticide residue on organic food is just 5% of what the EPA allows on conventional produce.

What is Certified Organic?

TEN THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

#10

Organic certification is the only label backed by clear legal definitions and independent third-party verification. All certified operations participate in an annual inspection of their premises, purchases, and practices to ensure the integrity of the organic seal.

GOOD REASONS TO CHOOSE
Certified Organic,
Locally Grown #5

Grown without GMOs
Buying certified organic is the best way to avoid exposure to genetically modified organisms (GMOs). Organic farmers do not use GMO seeds, plants, or animal feeds, and organic processed foods do not contain GMO ingredients.

Members are the of NOFA-VT!

When you become a member of NOFA-VT, you are nurturing a movement that supports organic farming practices to nourish the land, sustain farmers, and build a just food system. Organic farming practices fight climate change and grow biodiversity. Our community food access work creates opportunities for everyone to participate in the local food movement. Supporting farm viability ensures thriving rural communities and productive working landscapes. Local, organic farmers feed us all and support a resilient local food system. We stand at a critical moment in history and your membership helps us to deliver on this ambitious and vital work.

Find out more about how your membership supports our important work and the many benefits of membership by visiting www.nofavt.org/join. Questions? Contact Education & Engagement Manager Livy Bulger, livy@nofavt.org or 802-434-7153.

"I value NOFA-VT's work because they are a backbone of support to small farmers across the state. They serve as valuable advocates, educators, partners and cheerleaders for those doing this hard, and absolutely vital, work."

—Elizabeth King, Farmers Market Manager, Jericho, VT
